District 24 Toastmasters Newsletter – July 2011

Once Again...Distinguished

Greetings! Three years ago, I started my year as Lieutenant Governor Marketing with this challenge and promise to my fellow Toastmasters. “What can change our Toastmaster routine? YOU CAN! You can decide that this is the year that you will take another big step out of your Toastmaster comfort zone and rise to the challenge. What can you do? Perhaps finish that manual—or invite that person that challenges you at work or in your social circles to come to a meeting—or reach out to help another club start or grow. In Toastmasters the opportunities are endless. I and the rest of the District leadership are here to assist and serve your needs. What do you want to do, and how can we help?”

A lot has changed in the last three years, and while I cannot take credit for the change, I did enjoy being part of it. The combined leadership and dedication of all those involved made this journey so exciting.

I am thrilled to share with you that Toastmasters International President Pat Johnson called me on the morning of Sunday, July 17th, to share some wonderful news. District 24 is officially distinguished for 2010-2011, the third year in a row! This is an event to celebrate as District 24 has not had such consistent success since 1995.

The achievements of our members are even more exciting. Until the 2008-2009 year, the district had been hovering around the 200-220 awards per year. During the 2008-2009 year, the membership of the district earned 254 awards. This year we earned 333 awards! The individual growth that this represents is outstanding. Because of your hard work, all of the divisions, 12 areas, and at least 32 clubs were distinguished! In addition, for the first time in recent history, six new clubs were formed in a year.

As District 24 Toastmasters, we have a lot to be proud of this year. We have a great opportunity to build upon this foundation and be even greater. I would like to amend my opening thoughts and leave them with you as direction for this coming year. “What can make your Toastmaster experience even greater? YOU CAN! You can decide that this is the year that you will take another big step out of your Toastmaster comfort zone and rise to the challenge. What can you do?

Finish that manual, invite that person that challenges you at work or in your social circles to come to a meeting—or reach out to help another club start or grow. In Toastmasters the opportunities are endless. I and the rest of the District leadership are here to assist and serve your needs. What do you want to do, and how can we help? “

Respectfully and gratefully,
George Volz, DTM, and Immediate Past District Governor

District Governor

Looking Forward

I look forward to a fantastic year as your District Governor! I am fortunate to have had successful district leaders before me who offer their guidance and support, and I congratulate George Volz on his extremely successful year as District Governor. I am blessed to be working with two dynamic women in the trio: Sheri Wells-Chesley, Lt. Governor Education & Training and Kathy Henvey, Lt. Governor Marketing. Please know that I speak for the rest of the Trio when I say we are here to help in any way we can!

My fantastic executive team also includes Lisa McFarland as Public Relations Officer, Cyndi Hanson as District Treasurer, and Chris Pratt as District Secretary. Leading our divisions are Division A Governor, Brenda Kucera; Division B Governor, Vicki Workman; Division C Governor, Jolene Allen; Division D Governor, Sheila Nelson; and Division E Governor, Anthony Armstrong. The district's team of outstanding Area Governors and the clubs they serve can be found later in this newsletter.

Contratulations District 24!

With such amazing statistics in our clubs, areas, and divisions, it will come as no surprise that District 24 has met all of our critical success factors in the Distinguished District Program for the third year in a row! Way to go, District 24! Also, we ended the year with nine Distinguished Clubs, five Select Distinguished Clubs and eighteen President's Distinguished Clubs! That's amazing! A list of all Distinguished Clubs, Areas, and Divisions can be found later in this edition of the Double Dozen.

Chart a Course for Club Success

Now is the time to start creating a vision of how you want your club to succeed in 2011-2012. Plan an executive meeting and let your team of club officers share in creating that vision. Next, look at what needs to be accomplished and set S.M.A.R.T. goals (Specific, Measurable, Action-oriented, Realistic, and Time-bound). Enable your club members by assigning tasks and asking them to report back at your next executive meeting. By writing down your goals and continually monitoring your progress, you are charting a course for success. When planning, be sure to use the Club Success Plan booklet that your club president received. By creating a vision, establishing club goals, and implementing the right resources, your club can be recognized as a Distinguished Club this year!

Off and Running

It is my honor to be the new Lt. Governor Education and Training for District 24. Because there is so much to share, I'll get right to business!

Fantastic Year!

Excellent news...District 24 is distinguished! I want to thank everyone who helped on the marketing team by working on membership campaigns, assigning club coaches, and building new clubs. Read the "Good News to Share" section to find out all the exciting things happening in District 24! I want to highlight that we chartered a new club recently with 47 members!

TLI's & Educational Plan

Toastmasters Leadership Institutes (TLI's) are currently taking place in all of the Divisions. See the District 24 calendar on the website for more details on dates and locations. The TLI's are free of charge and open to all club officers and members. TLI's help club officers—new and old—learn about their roles and how they can help their clubs. Remember, each club needs at least four officers trained at this Summer's TLI's in order to receive credit towards the Distinguished Club Program (DCP) goal number nine.

I will be solidifying the education and training plan for District 24 over the next several weeks. I am looking for volunteers to assist me with education and training needs during the year in various capacities—no previous experience is required. If you enjoy learning more about what Toastmasters has to offer and helping others in their journey to becoming better communicators and leaders, please email or call me as soon as possible; otherwise, I am going to start tapping on your shoulder!

Speech Contests

At a June 18, 2011 meeting, the District Executive Council (DEC) voted to retain our previous contest schedules. This year, the Humorous Speech and Evaluation contests will be held in the fall, and the International Speech and Tall Tales contests will be held in the spring. The last day for club contests is September 10; last day for Area contests is October 1; and the last day for Division contest is October 22. The District 24 Fall Conference will be held on one day only – Saturday, November 5, at Bellevue University, and will showcase the final Humorous and Evaluation speech contests.

Welcome

Hello, I am Kathy Henvey, DTM, your new District 24 Lieutenant Governor Marketing. I take on my new role in District 24 on July 1st. Also, in July, I will become a grandmother for the first time. Kathy Henvey, DTM

Lt. Governor of Marketing (LGM)

I am a charter member of the Blue Ah Busters Toastmasters Club and a charter member of the Advanced Toastmasters of Omaha Club. I am so grateful for all I have learned during my membership in Toastmasters, I want to give back to District 24 by serving as your Lieutenant Governor of Marketing. I look forward to working with you to build on the District 24 membership growth fostered by outgoing Lieutenant Governor Marketing, Sheri Wells-Chesley. Please contact me at d24lgm@gmail.com with any District 24 marketing questions you have.

Wrapping Up

Here are the updates on the Spring dues and membership contests.

- If your club earned a lime green “bling” ribbon (early bird ribbon for dues renewal) and did not receive it at the Spring Conference, it will be given to you at the next Toastmasters Leadership Institute (TLI) or sent to your club president in the near future.
- Congratulations to the ConAgra Foods—Jam-N Toasters who recruited 6 new members to their club between February 1 to March 31 and thereby won the “Talk Up Toastmasters” membership-building contest! The club won $150 to spend on line at Toastmasters International.
- “Beat the Clock” was the final membership building contest for the Toastmaster year, and ran from May 1 to June 30. The official results will be announced in next month’s newsletter. In addition to a ribbon, qualifying clubs will also earn a special discount code for 10% off their next club order (discount code expires six months from date of issue). District 24 will also give your club $50 to spend at the Toastmasters International on line store. The club who adds the MOST new, dual, or reinstated members will receive $150 total ($50 from above + $100)!

Congratulations to all our winners and participating clubs! You have taken the initiative to bring guests to Toastmasters and give them the same opportunity to learn and grow that someone else once offered to you.

All the best,
Sheri

WE NEED YOUR PROXY

The Toastmasters International Annual Business Meeting, where votes will be cast to elect the international officers and directors to the 2011-2012 Board of Directors, is quickly approaching. This year, the meeting will be held on Saturday, August 20, in Las Vegas, Nevada.

On May 11, club presidents received an email containing proxy information. Each club president and secretary was provided with login information and a proxy number that is unique to their club. In order for those proxies to be used, each club president must login to the Toastmasters International website to specify how the club will cast its votes. Three options are available:

1. The club is sending a delegate to the Annual Business Meeting.
2. The club is designating its 2011-2012 District Governor or next senior district officer in attendance as its proxyholder.
3. The club is designating another active Toastmaster as its proxyholder.

You will have access to proxy information from the district login on the Toastmasters International website by clicking on the new proxy information link.

If you have misplaced your proxy information, you may order a duplicate copy by sending an email to proxyinfo@toastmasters.org. Be sure to include the current club president’s name and email address, and your club number. If you have any questions regarding assigning your proxy, please contact LuAnn Anglo at luannanglo@hotmail.com. Toastmasters International also provides answers to the following frequently asked questions on their website. www.toastmasters.org/proxyquestions

Two years ago, the direction of Toastmasters was changed by just 4 votes. Remember, your vote is important!

How to Lead in Chaotic Times

Fellow Toastmaster leaders, when Dr. Kituku visited District 24's Spring Conference, he left some tidbits that are appropriate to revisit as we start this Toastmaster year.

Here are 7 top tips on how to lead in chaotic times:

- 1. Include people in your vision.
People thrive in activities in which their aspirations, hopes and resources are incorporated from the start. Peter Senge in The Fifth Discipline says people are only motivated by personal visions which usually include aspects that concern any social entity, family, community, public or private organizations.
- 2. "One finger cannot kill a lice."
Leaders have to walk on unfamiliar grounds with others, sooner or later. Traditional knowledge has it that it took a team to spear a buffalo. Your team must know what the buffalo (challenge, change or vision) is, who has what spear and how each team member's contribution is part of the organization's success. Communication, coordination, conflict and change management systems are essential for the team to overcome the buffalo, stay focused and increase productivity.
- 3. Forget short-term team building programs, otherwise you will be trapped in the passion of feeding the self-esteem of the "worried few." Build a strong community where confidence and productivity are largely influenced by a sense of belonging and acceptance for the team's overall purpose. A community, not "self," provides these productivity assets. In sports, teams consist of talented specialists. To win games, these specialists perform their best by working together with each other. It's a community thing.
- 4. Grow the whole person.
Don't separate business from body and soul. As I work with college football coaches about developing a motivation program that helps athletes win games (I have presented motivational speeches to Boise State University football since 1998), my suggestion is, develop them academically, morally and athletically. Your genuine interests in people's growth in all areas, not just in the aspect you need today, motivates them to excel in life. They become key contributors across the board. The assurance that players can have life off the court is a key to success for many winning teams. The same principle applies in all social institutions.
- 5. Take hold of the buffalo's horn and let others take care of the kicks. Jomo Kenyatta, the late first president of Kenya, told his countrymen, "I have held the buffalo's horn, deal with the kicks," as Kenya freed itself from Britain's colonial bondage. Clear, expectations and empowerment are the "horn" you, the leader, must hold and your team will follow with all it has.
- 6. Train and develop your people.
If the people you lead depend on your skills and wisdom, you will have to support them perpetually. Providing them with training and a safe work environment dissolves the uncertainty of knowledge work. It allows individuals to do their jobs.
- 7. Inner peace.
The importance of inner peace is un-discussed in modern corporate world. However, great leaders know that a peace of mind and soul gives them the stability and focus they need to undertake the difficult decisions. At the top, you find that your decisions relegate you to emotional isolation. An uncertain business environment amplifies isolation. Inner peace gives you tranquility and a place to stand so you can move your world.
